OUR ELKS AT PORTLAND.

The running time of the train from Astoria to Portland was two hours and four minutes, with Brother Evans at the throttle.

It would have done your heart good to have seen Bros. Herman Prael and T. P. A. Smith, mount, ride and get off of Holy Moses, the camel.

It was a funny episode to have seen Bro. Chief Hallock fall over the rear end of the camel.

Bro. Doc McLaren took great delight in feeding the elephant.

Bro. Bruce Polworth, so as to make a show, took half a page of the register when signing his name at headquarters.

The miniature railroad was very liberally patronized by Astorians at the fair.

All visiting Elks were royally entertained by their Portland brethren, especially by Brother P. T. Merrill, who had all his electric automobiles in use for taking the returning Elks to the depot.

On returning home Thursday night the ladies of the party literally smothered the boys with confetti.

The Elks with their ladies cordially extend their thanks for the many nice courtesies shown them by Portland lodge.

The following brothers took chances at the Country Store at 10 cents each: "They may come in handy, some day."

George A. Lewis received one tone child's stocking; Dr. Vaughn, hose supporter; Charles Brown, pair of corset springs; Hayes Easterbrook, one baby's blue shoe, very much soiled; Tom Linville, baby's undershirt, badly torn. "Bob" Wallace had the lucky number that drew the old speckled hen, but the hen "blew the fence." Influence of the ladies, of course, had something to do with those investments, but they were more lucky in the drawing than the men.

L. E. Selig and C. J. Curtis spent all their spare time on the miniature railroad, practicing to play the part of Gould and Vanderbilt.

C. J. Cooper was very much interested in the midway.

"If I miss that train, it's all off with me,"—Neal Crosby.

"It makes a great difference when you ride on your own train; they can't put you off,"—T. F. Laurin.

"There's no finer music than a bass drum when people want to sleep,"—Linville.

GRIMBERG'S DEATH.

New developments are turning up in the case of Emanuel Grimberg, who met his death on the ship St. Nicholas on her voyage from Nushagak river to this port. The deceased's friends have in their possession a piece of rope which they claim is in a rotten condition and the breaking of which was the direct cause of Grimberg's death. In order to settle the question definitely an inquest will be held at the coroner's office this morning at 10 o'clock. On opening the casket it was found that the case had been so perfectly sealed that the body was in a state of perfect preservation. Mr. Grimberg had been a member of the A. O. U. W. for 10 or 11 years and was in good standing of the Knights of Pythias. These two societies are jointly taking an interest in the funeral, which will begin with services at the First Presbyterian church at 1:30 p. m. today. Mr. Grimberg was a native of Norway, 33 years of age. He leaves a wife and three children who will receive $2000 from the Knights of Pythias in the usual prompt way they pay such claims generally within a month. A notice about the funeral appears in another column.

BOY DROWNED.

While playing and fishing down at a spot near the old Devlin cannery, a little boy named Claude Clausen, fell through a hole and was drowned. In the hopes, when the body was taken out of the water, that the boy might be resuscitated he was hurried to the hospital and worked on till Dr. Fulton saw him. The doctor informs us that there is no doubt that the boy was dead before he was taken out. He was a little fellow, 6 years of age, and was romping round with some other boys near the edge of a dilapidated part of the wharf. Charles Clausen, the father, is working in Portland and was sent for by telegram, and is now at home. Arrangements for the funeral will be made this morning.

HARRY MORSE ARRIVES.

The Harry Morse with the Alaska Fishermen's Packing Association's Nushagak river salmon pack hauled alongside the O. R. & N. dock at 7:30 last evening, bringing 37,000 cases of salmon. Among the passengers were J. O. Shinn, the bookkeeper, and A. Carlson, the foreman of the cannery. There were also 70 other white passengers on board, all fishermen. One hundred and twelve Japanese and Chinamen were also passengers. The bark left the same day as the St. Nicholas and met her four times between Nushagak and the pass and the race was a matter of great excitement to all on board, even to the Chinamen. After going through the pass on the 24th ult., the vessels lost sight of each other with the result that the St. Nicholas was an easy winner. Captain Reynolds thinks his rival in the race must have gone further to the south and caught better winds. In Lat. 49 deg., 9 north, and Long. 136 deg. 3 west, the Mary D. Hume, the whaler's tender, was sighted. Those bearings would place her about 500 miles west of Cape Flattery. All on board had good health on the voyage.

JOHNSON DISMISSED.

In the case of the State of Oregon vs. J. A. Johnson, the man who was charged with threatening to kill August C. Greenbrook, a dismissal was obtained by agreement of the attorneys on either side. Conditions were made that Johnson should promise to keep the peace with the people of Oregon and especially with Greenbrook. This Johnson readily agreed to do. The bondmen were released and Johnson is free. The rumors of insanity were ridiculed by the attorneys. Mr. F. D. Winton appeared for Johnson.

ILWACO MAN SKIPS.

Under most distressing circumstances J. A. Wirt, the agent of the I. R. & N. Co. at Ilwaco, has fled. He leaves a good, faithful wife and three children behind him, also an aged, paralyzed grandmother. He passed through Chinook and took the train in this city for Kalama or Portland. From news received at 3 a. m. this morning the act was premeditated, as he took everything valuable that belonged to him. The Ilwaco people are looking after the scoundrel's family. Drink and gambling are the cause of Wirt's downfall. Wirt drew all his and his wife's salary, but touched none of the company's money in his care.

THE FEDERATED TRADES.

There was a very large meeting of the American Federation of Labor last evening at the Labor hall. Several important matters were under discussion. Shortly after the meeting the secretary handed in the following advertisement:

At a special meeting of the Central Labor Council the Evening News was declared unfair.

Jeff's restaurant was also declared unfair and the secretary was instructed to publish same.
